FOREWORD

We have chosen "Destination Graduation" as the theme for the 1962 Lanconian. Our passage through high school is likened to a long journey during which numerous roads were traveled. Along the way, we encountered many things. We struggled with homework; enjoyed participation in sports and social events; overcame many little problems; and, most important, acquired a first-rate education. Our journey was completed with the capable assistance of the faculty and administration, who helped guide our course.

Now, as these roads bring us to our destination, we have tried to record some of the wonderful memories of our travels. We can only hope that succeeding classes have as memorable a journey as ours has been.

DEDICATION

For your GUIDANCE through three years of history,
For your ever-present INTEREST in our future,
For your HELP and ADVICE concerning our problems,
For your fine LEADERSHIP during our junior year,
For your ASSISTANCE and SUPPORT of our activities,
For your outstanding SERVICE to the entire school.
We, the Class of 1962, dedicate our yearbook to you,

THOMAS J. KEENAN

ADMINISTRATION

To the Class of 1962—

"Laborare est orare" is an ancient proverb meaning, "To work is to pray." There is no better key to happiness than hard work. Go out into the world, find a job you can do and do it with all your might. Best wishes.

To the Class of 1962—

Commencement is defined as a beginning or a start. The twelve years you have studied in our school will serve as a preparation and a base upon which you will build your adult life.

Success in life means many things to many people. However, the true measure of success lies in service to other people, integrity in all your relationships, enthusiasm for your work, and in doing the job to the best of your ability.

My best wishes to you for a happy and rewarding future.

GRADUATION

We journey forward . . .

JUNIOR HIGH

Math—Junior high students are taught fundamental math operations. They do problems involving interests and per cents.

History—Seventh grade students study world history and geography. Eighth graders have a course in U. S. history. These courses provide them with a good historical background.

English—Spelling, grammar, composition and reading are stressed by the English department. Students exercise their creative ability by writing poetry and book reports.

. . . guided by roadsigns . . .

Science—Junior high students study general science. They learn about electrical energy, the planets, and the various heating systems.

Music—This year's music students have studied operettas and composers. However, music class consists mainly of singing and listening to records.

Home Economics—The home economics department introduced the junior high girls to the basic skills employed in homemaking. They learned how to sew, knit, and cook.

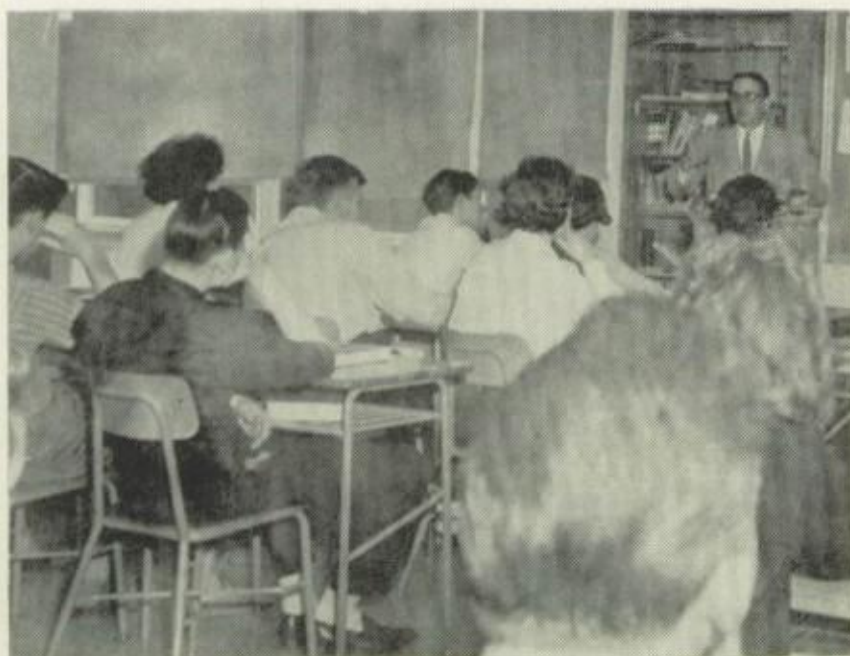

... which lead us onward ...

SENIOR HIGH ACADEMIC

History—Current events were observed closely this year. A study of P.O.D. enabled the seniors to better understand the workings of their government.

Physics—Physics students spend much time doing laboratory experiments. Mr. Hader's magical word for success in physics and chemistry is "dig."

Language—At present two years of Latin and German are offered to the academic student. However, next year our language department will be enlarged to include three years of German.

English—One goal of our English department is to teach students to recognize and use good English grammar. Other goals are to teach reading appreciation through the study of literature and to develop topics into a series of paragraphs.

... through courses of study ...

Health—Adjustment to life as an adult is taught in the health classes. In addition some health classes receive a very practical first-aid course.

Biology—Biology students learn mostly of living plants and animals with which they daily come in contact. Various animals were dissected to study the structure of their bodies.

Math—The math department offers to the academic student—Algebra I and II, Geometry, Trigonometry, and Advanced Algebra. Through patient instruction, Mr. Carfagno makes hard problems seem easy.

Gym—The object of our gym classes is to get pupils in shape. This was accomplished through participating in vigorous sports and doing muscle-building exercises.

COMMERCIAL

Typing—Typing skills are gained through daily exercises and unit work. Timed writings are given frequently to determine the students' typing rate.

Math—Commercial students take a course called Business Math. This course prepares them to deal with mathematical problems which they will encounter in the business world.

J.B.T.—Junior Business Training is a course which prepares students to enter the business world. The students learn things such as banking, insurance, taking out loans, and making a budget.

VOCATIONAL

Home Economics—The girls taking a home economics major learn many things applicable to home-making. They refinished furniture, designed clothing, made hats, and studied interior decorating.

Shop—Shop class gives the boys an opportunity to display their creativity. This year, in addition to doing mechanical drawings, the senior boys made cedar chests and gun racks.

Art—Art majors learned the history of art as part of their course. They also did oil painting, pottery making, and sketching.

... to our destination ...

Driver Training—Mr. Budnovitch, the driver training instructor, teaches his pupils the basic road signs and laws, the major parts of the car, and the correct way to care for a car. Students with permits and licenses receive road training.

Guidance—The purpose of the guidance department is to assist students in their choice of courses, jobs, and future education. Throughout the school year all seniors have several conferences with Mr. Weaver, the guidance counselor, who helps them plan for the future.

Library—The library is invaluable to students who depend upon this resource for information when a report is due. New features of the library this year were a record library and a pamphlet file.

Talent Assembly—Each year a talent assembly is held in which the students participate. Some of the participants in the assembly are selected to perform at Upper Perkiomen High School, whose students, in turn, present us with a talent assembly.

. . . graduation

Students with vocational interests enjoy using the new equipment with which our shop is provided.

The girls used the gym whenever possible to participate in their favorite sports during their activity periods. Miss Young taught good sportsmanship in various games.

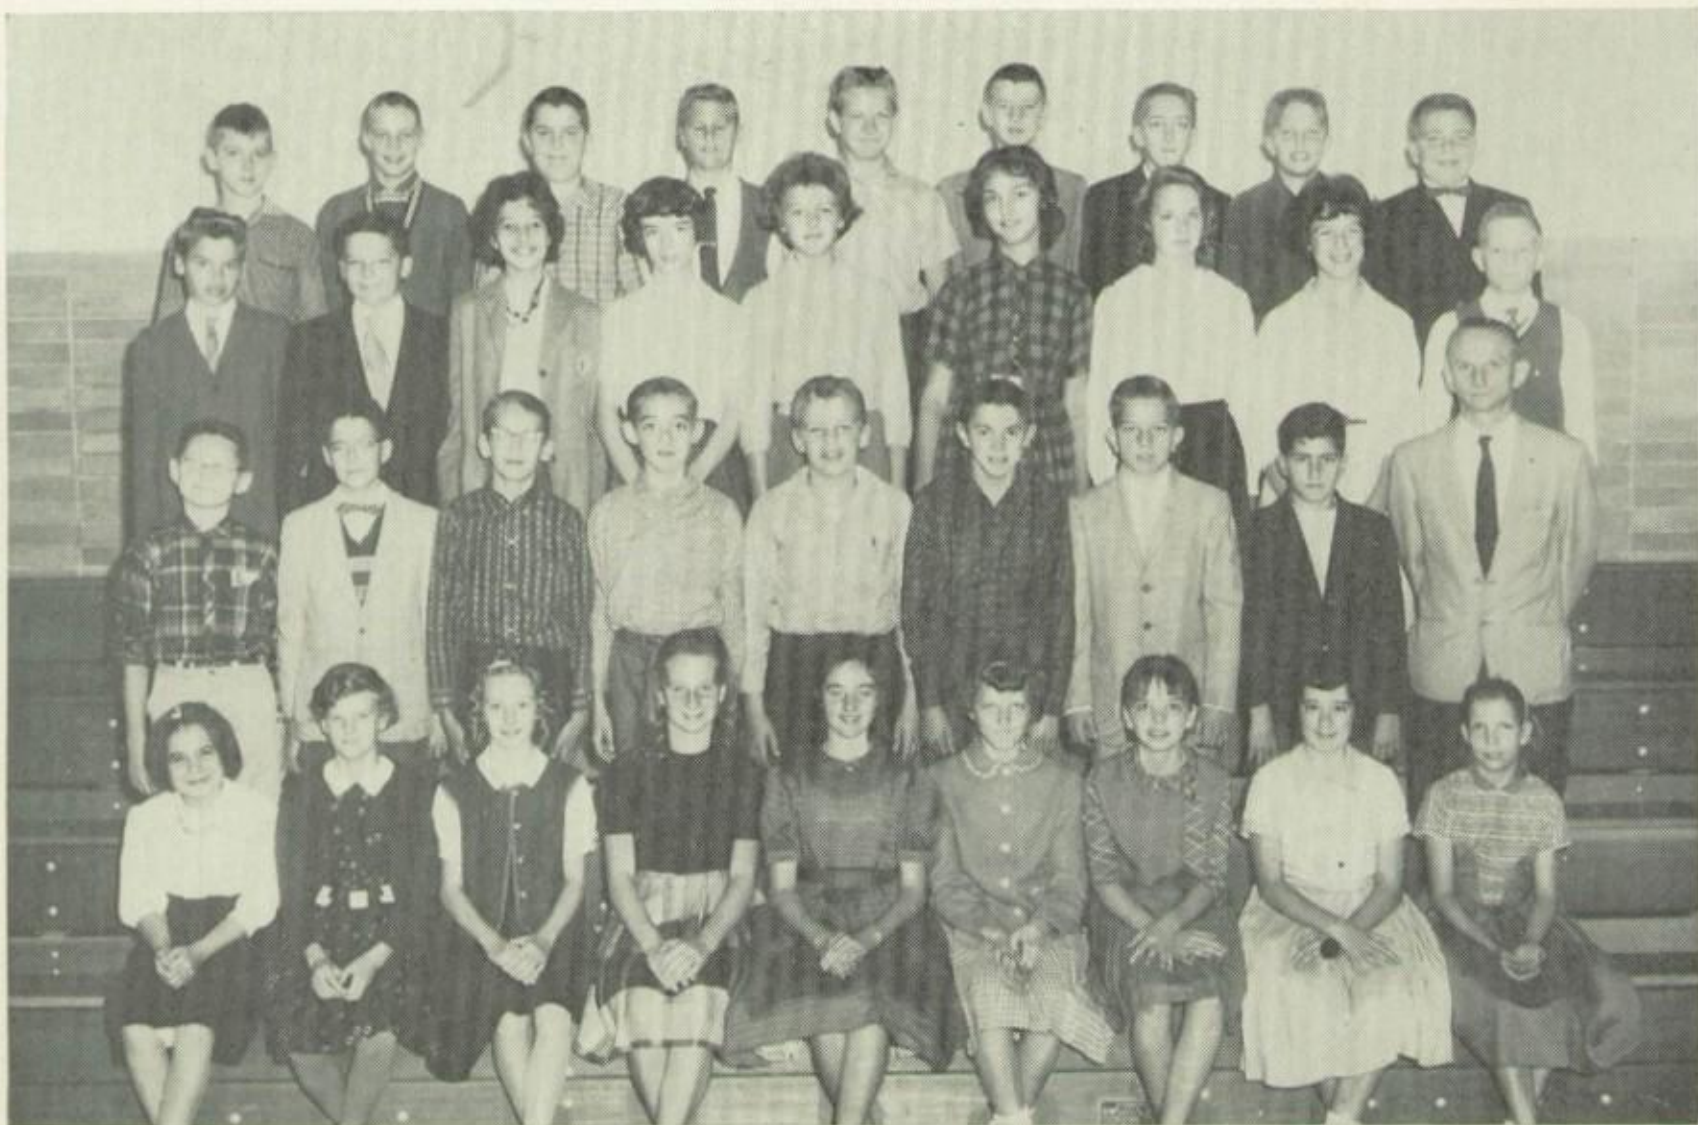

Both underclassmen and our cheerleaders make the most of the spaciousness of the gym to carry out their parts in the school's program.

The boys develop their muscles by weight lifting, gymnastics, and different calisthenics, under the close supervision of their athletic teacher.

We, the class of 1964, enjoyed a prosperous year as sophomores. Our year began with selling candy. On December 2, 1961, we held our first dance entitled "Twilight Time." We later participated in the annual Talent Assembly.

We recently received our class rings, which we wear with pride.

We are also proud of the many sophomores who participated in sports throughout the year.

The members of the Sophomore Class extend their sincere wishes to the Senior Class for a successful future.

CLASS OFFICERS: Rita Golden, Secretary; Alfonso Cusumano, Vice-President; Charles Yerger, President; Iline Friel, Treasurer.

Third Row: James Wack, Edward Burke, Dane Rynhart, Rick McCahill, William Storkey, Robert Jenkins, William Patterson, Ronald Clossin, Theodore Morgan.

Under the capable leadership of the class officers, David McCahan, Paul Whary, Anne Cope, and Linda Mathias, the class of 1963 enjoyed a successful, active year. On January 20, 1961, we presented our class dance, "Skater's Fantasy."

In February we sponsored a trip to the movie "El Cid." Early spring found the juniors busily engaged in the biggest project of the year, the sale of Easter candy.

The Junior-Senior Prom, an event long anticipated by the class of '63, completed the year's activities.

CLASS OFFICERS: Paul Whary, Vice-president; Linda Mathias, Secretary; David McCahan, President; Anne Cope, Treasurer.

Class changes give us time to converse with friends. D. Fisher, B. O'Neil.

They took pictures from every angle. Mr. Steitz, D. Thomas, S. Sprawls.

Of course those senior girls are studying.

Everyone likes lunch time, but the cooks.

ORGANIZATION
BOULEVARD

The world is their stage . . .

The members of the junior high Dramatics Club reviewed the history of drama and also the rules of the stage. Attention was given to voice development and choral reading. The highlight of the year was a play entitled "Everyman," directed by Miss Sweeney.

. its workings their pleasure . . .

Mr. Shoemaker showed his Math Club members how fascinating mathematics can be. Puzzles and tricky math problems not only were entertaining but also proved very challenging. In addition, the students studied the various number systems used in computing machines.

Under the supervision of Mr. Kunkle, the Junior Science Club serves as a supplement to the regular science course. Films are shown and demonstrations are done to make clearer many scientific principles. Experiments and projects provide the students an opportunity for discovering things for themselves.

. . . its beauty their joy.

Girls in the Arts and Crafts Club have an opportunity to do many different and interesting projects in the line of art. Mrs. Shaffer taught them basket weaving and various other crafts. This club is highly valued by those who desire to express their artistic talent.

Dennis Kolb, Ted Weashing, Jay Freas, Miss Stanko, Robert Beattie, Thomas Dice, David Long, James Ferrier, James Kemp, George Levy, Bruce Rowland, Bart Hoffman, Harry Phillips, Alfred Cox, Fred Rapp, Galen Stewart, Nelson Shaw.

They developed their tastebuds . . . their perception of beauty . . .

The Chef's Club, under the able direction of Miss Stanko, learned manners for school and community life. They learned how to purchase food, plan menus, and cook simple and elaborate meals. Since they were separated into three groups—head cook and assistants, table setters, and helpers—the boys got a chance to perform each step of a meal.

The primary aim of the Junior High Photography Club is to acquaint its members with the equipment connected with audio-visual aids. Under the supervision of Mr. Steitz, the students learn to operate the press camera and the enlarger. This familiarity with the various pieces of mechanism will be very useful in future years.

The boys in the Athletic Club participated in football, basketball, baseball, and tumbling. In addition to teaching the boys the rules of many games, Mr. Mikolaitis, the advisor, stressed the importance of good sportsmanship.

Throughout the year the Usher's Club has been busy raising money to buy uniform dresses. Guided by Miss Stanko, the club members learned catering and acted as hostesses on special occasions.

They learned new ways . . .

This year the senior girls graciously offered their services to train future majorettes. They taught the girls in junior high some of the fundamental steps. Miss Reitenbaugh, the Majorette Club instructor, aided the majorettes in their drills. They are looking forward to participating in many school activities next year.

. . . they captured the old.

Under the direction of Mr. Steitz, the Photography Club learned to use the visual aids equipment. The members developed and printed their own pictures. This year, for the first time, they have been able to use an enlarger and a dryer. In addition to taking motion pictures and still shots of our football games, the club members ran the movie projector for classroom movies.

Sitting: Kathy Groth, Sue Riggelman, Sue Sprawls, Judy Kehs, Shirley Murray, Elwood Bickert, Harry Alberts, Jimmy DeRemer. Kneeling: Louis Rucker, Curtis Dahms, Jimmy Heffentrager. Standing: Charles Brynan, Gary Shaffer, Danny Thomas, Marsha Jones, Sue Forest, Mr. Steitz, LeRoy Haas, Rose Kemp, Ted Morgan, Ed Burke.

They bolstered spirit . . .

The Poster Club, with Mrs. Shaffer's helpful advice, has kept our halls gayly decorated throughout the year. This club has done much to promote school spirit and also to herald forthcoming school events.

. . . they encouraged fairness .

This tiny Officials' Club officiates all junior and senior high intramural games: hockey, basketball, softball, and volleyball. One aim of the club is to acquaint junior high girls with the rules of various sports. Miss Young emphasized good sportsmanship in all the games.

. . . they sought knowledge.

The Radiological Monitoring Club, under the guidance of Mr. Hader, studied the nature of radioactivity. Club members learned, among other things, how to read fallout maps, Geiger counters, and dosimeters.

Front: Jean Frisbie, Ellen Preston. Center: Karen Myers, Miss Young, Linda Huels. Back: Diana Spatz, Nancy Hader.

James Steward, Mr. Hader, Clifford Kratz, Gary Krupp, Norman Merrell.

They organized our reading . . .

As sponsor of the Library Club, Miss Reitenbaugh trained the girls in various library techniques. They learned such things as filing, and repairing damaged books. Several library films were shown throughout the year. A book sale was conducted by the club for the benefit of all the students.

. . . they provided new.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Peifer, Mr. Romasco, and Mr. Miller, the Publications Club is responsible for the School newspaper, DATELINE S.H.S. The staff is divided into two parts: the editorial and the typing staff. The club's future goal is to publish a literary magazine. Nancy Dunkle, Kathy Waddel, and Anne Cope are the capable editors.

Sitting: Diana Spatz, Chris Hefner, Miss Russo, Mrs. Peifer, Peggy Nace, Anne Cope, Nancy Dunkle, Kathy Waddel, Mr. Romasco, Linda McDevitt, Linda Barron. Standing: Joyce Jones, Barbara Slayman, Karen Perry, Nancy Bauman, Margaret Pellechio, Donna Reed, William Clossin, Charles Witmayer, Donna Krupp, Iline Friel, Daisy Buckwalter, Joan Hunsberger, Rose Ann Kline, Mary Jane Rodenbaugh.

They discussed sports, both competitive and individual.

The purpose of the Varsity Club is to help its members gain knowledge and experience in the field of sports. Through the medium of movies and the helpful instruction of Mr. Resetar, their advisor, the boys strive to achieve this goal. The club members, who are all varsity lettermen, gain experience in officiating junior and senior high intramurals.

The purpose of the Sportsman's Club is to promote hunter safety and to instruct its members in the proper use of guns and ammunition. Fishing, archery, forestry, conservation, and game feeding are topics of discussion throughout the year. The boys are directed by Mr. Eurich, who has had much experience in this field.

They took part in action . . .

Since physical fitness has been highly emphasized, the Outdoor Club is becoming increasingly popular. Under the supervision of Mr. Budnovitch, the boys engage in such sports as football, basketball, and baseball. Calisthenics and weight-lifting also aid the boys in their body-building program.

One of the most interesting and practical clubs is the Mechanics Club. Under the able leadership of Mr. Carfagno, the boys learn how to assemble and disassemble an engine. They also learn other basic mechanical principles.

They were spirit builders . . .

The Pep Club has done a fabulous job in promoting school spirit. The members attended all the school functions and did much to create enthusiasm. With Mr. Keenan's assistance, the club sponsored the Valentine Dance entitled "Cupid's Paradise."

. . . and protectors of safety.

The Safety Patrol, under the guidance of Mr. Budnovitch, is vital to the welfare of our students. Every day our patrol is on the alert to insure safety going to and from school.

They entertained with music, instrumental and vocal.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Lawrence, has not performed as much this year as in other years. However, it entertained the student body in a fall assembly. The band also participated in the "Spring Music Festival," which was enjoyed by everyone.

The Glee Club, directed by Mr. Biely, has been a source of great enjoyment to all the students. The Girls' Ensemble serenaded us at our holiday assemblies and caroled for us during the Christmas season. They also worked hard and long on the "Spring Music Festival," which was a great success.

They governed our school.

This year, as in the past, the Student Council has played a very important role in our school life. The council works along with the administration to create a congenial atmosphere conducive to good school spirit and scholastic interest.

Some outstanding activities sponsored by the Student Council are: tag days, a dance, and talent assemblies. In addition, the Student Council operates the school store, monitors the halls, and polices the parking lot.

The Yearbook Club is the most significant to all the seniors. With the aid of Mr. Graber, the club advisor, the members worked hard to make the LANCONIAN a success. The layout and all the write-ups, contributed by club members, supported the theme "Destination Graduation." Special recognition is due our editor-in-chief Sally Warmkessel and Judy Kehs our chief photographer.

1961 May Queen Patti Friel.

The annual May Day began with the coronation of the lovely queen for 1961, Patti Friel. The former May Queen, Sallie King, was present to crown Miss Friel.

After the ceremonial crowning of the queen, the festivities began. All classes were well represented in the athletic events. At the end of a wonderful afternoon of fun and competition, the final scores were tallied. The seniors were in first place for the senior high with 79 points and the freshmen came in first in the junior high competition with 122 points.

Our king and queen represented us

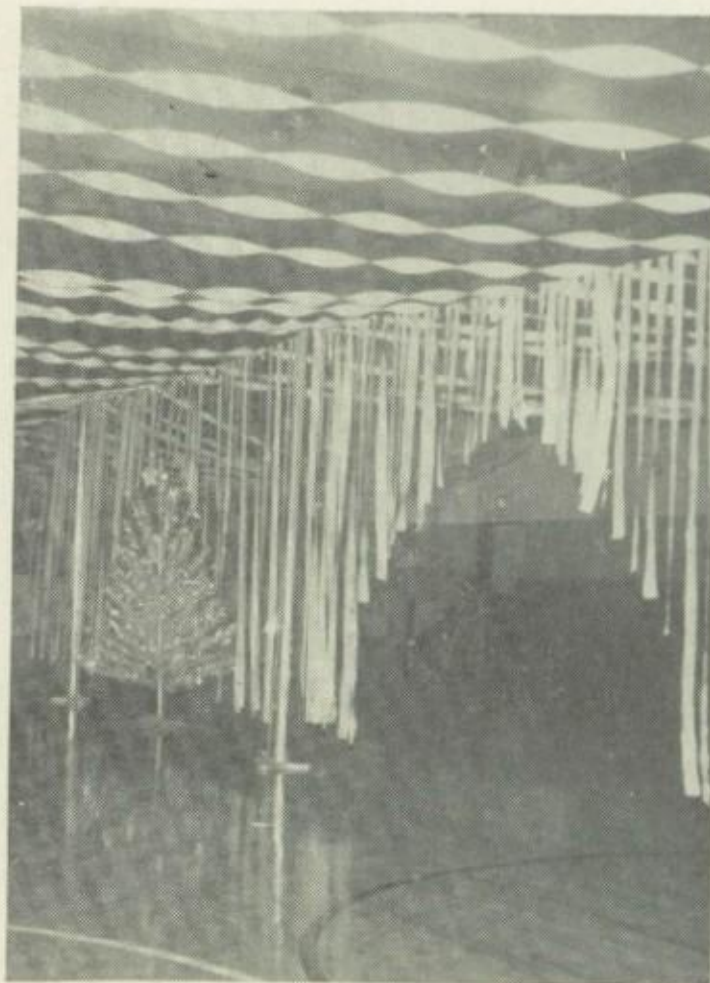

The king and queen danced for their subjects.

We greeted Valentine's Day with open arms on February 17, with the presentation of "Cupid's Paradise." The bulletin board displayed the name of the dance surrounded by frolicking cupids. The Pep Club decorated our auditorium to provide a lovely aura of romance. In the center of the floor was a fairy tale bridge, which crossed over a clear little pond upon which floated water lilies. A stairway led to the stage where two beautifully decorated thrones awaited the King and Queen of Hearts.

Bill Clossin was our king and Fredericka Fairlie our queen. She wore a gown of white and red, very fitting for the occasion. Their crowns, which were presented to them by Mr. Hader, were carried by Terry Richard and Chris Eurich.

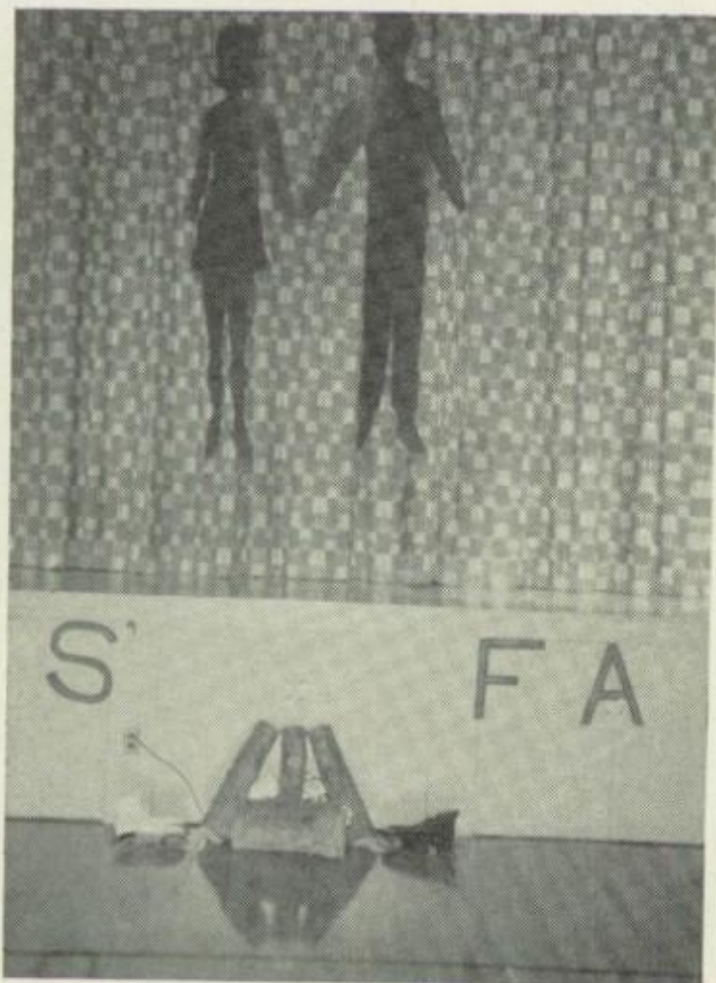

The Usher's Club surprised everyone by trying a new idea for a dance. The auditorium was covered with clothes lines, holding socks of all shapes, sizes, and colors. The people attending were required to deposit their shoes upon entering. Everyone entered into the spirit, and many crazy combinations of socks were seen.

The sophomores presented the school with our Christmas dance entitled "Twilight Time." The auditorium was filled with dangling streamers from which hung stars. The center of the floor contained an eye-catching silver Christmas tree.

Various classes provided entertainment

The juniors captured the theme of winter in their dance. A fireplace cast the shadows of skaters upon the curtains. The bulletin board was an interesting skating scene and added color to the whole school.

"Leprechaun Leap" was the seniors' presentation to the school. Toadstools and leprechauns appeared throughout the gym. Our D.J. was Dwain Jones, the Biggest Leprechaun. Shamrocks decorated the bulletin board and set off our theme.

Get that jump ball, Tom.

The intramural system gave the seventh and eighth grades the chance to learn the fundamentals of our school sports. They learned to know each other better and absorbed their first lessons in good sportsmanship. We hope the junior high students will go on to interscholastic sports now that they have the experience.

Ricky aims and shoots.

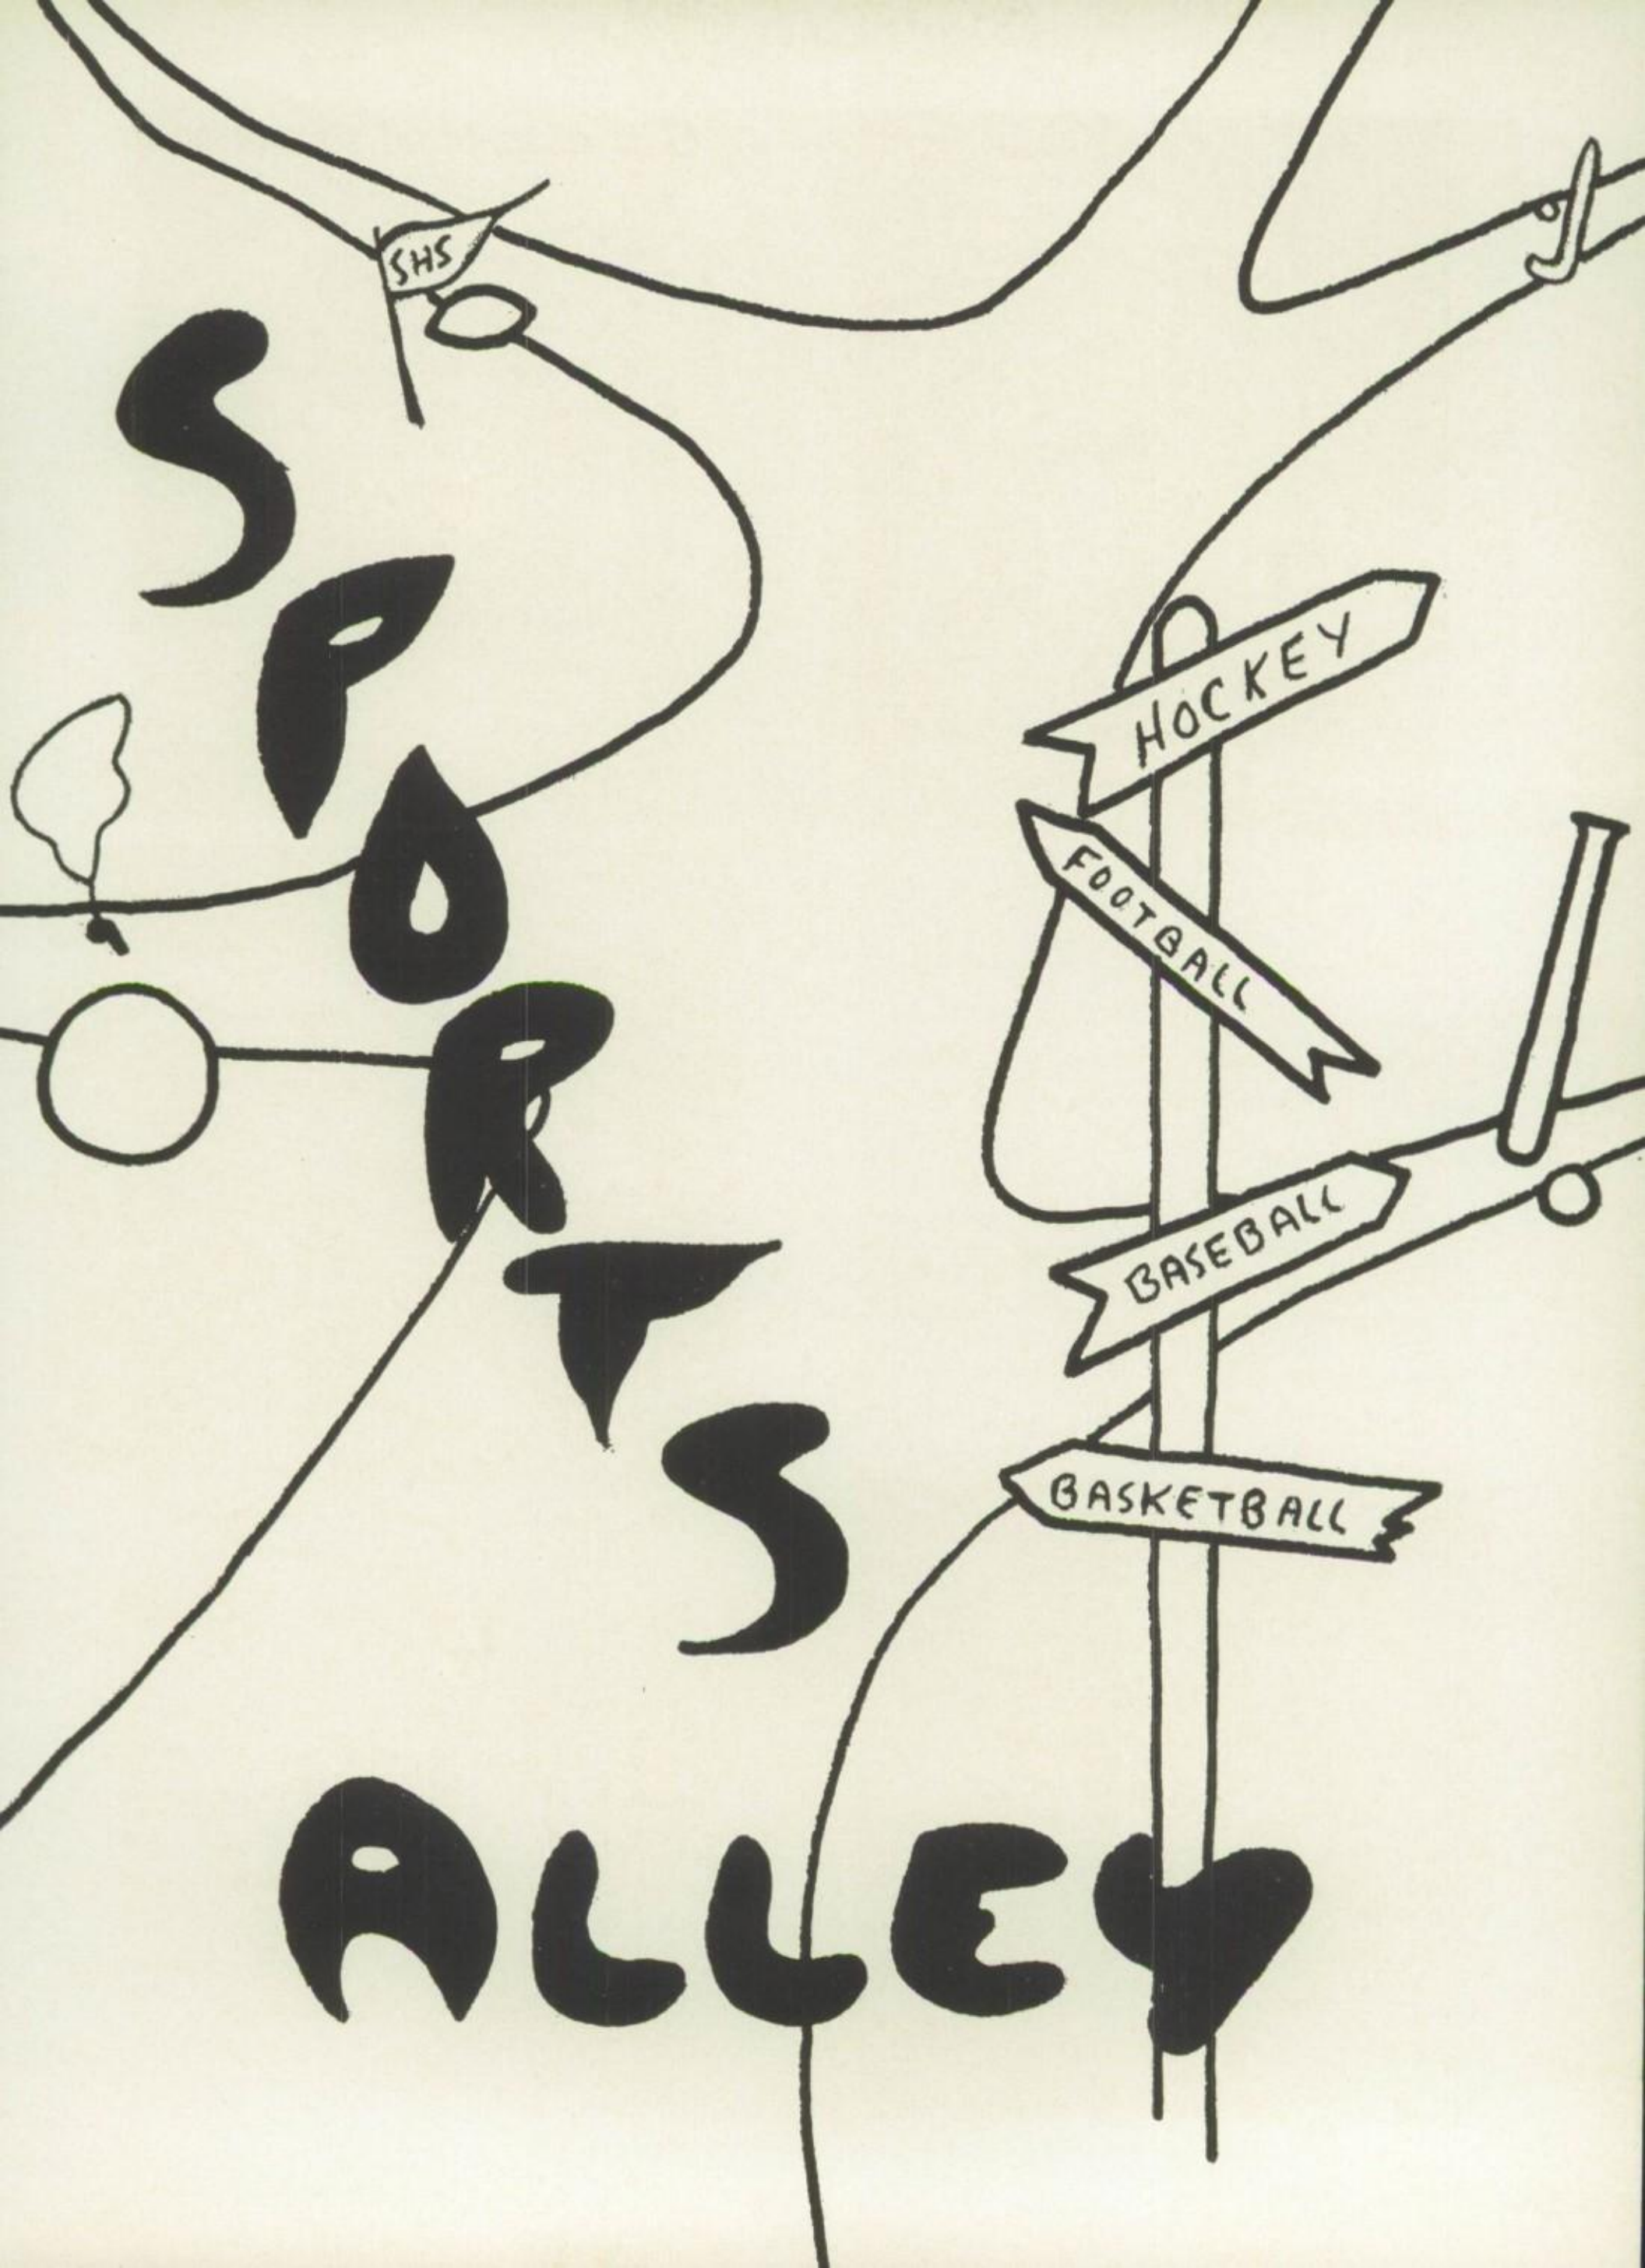

Class competition stimulated us

The intramural system gave our students football and hockey in the fall, basketball and volleyball in the winter, and softball during the spring. Students could let off steam eighth period on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and some Fridays. Not only the players benefited, but some of the students were given a chance to referee.

Barbara had to reach high for that one.

The senior high intramurals added some pep to the school year. The games not only helped to better the sportsmanship, but also increased our class and school spirit. Our intramurals gave those who could not play on junior varsity and varsity squads a chance to participate in competitive sports.

Victory was their goal

The Bluebirds suffered through a disappointing season this year, failing to register a victory. Inexperience, a small squad, and a long list of injuries hindered their cause. Several experienced seniors and some promising sophomores formed most of the team, but their best efforts could not gain a victory.

Since the team loses only six seniors through graduation, it is hoped that upcoming classes can fill the gap and provide a winning team for S.H.S.

They never gave up

The season was a long one for this year's varsity, coached by Mr. High. They won only three games and finished with a 2-10 record in league play. Highlights of the season were the two victories over arch-rival Collegeville-Trappe. The Birds played like champions in these two contests.

Danny Thomas was high scorer with 141 points. Rick Johnson tallied 87 after joining the varsity late in the year. The team loses only one starter and should be set for a winning season next year.

The junior varsity, coached by Mr. Mikolaitis, had another successful season. Finishing with eight victories in sixteen games, the team had a well balanced attack and played fine basketball. Judging from these results, it appears that basketball is on the way up at S.H.S.

The varsity girls, under the direction of Miss Young, had a poor season this year, winning only one non-league game against the Alumni. The top scorers were Nancy Heacock and Peggy Nace, having sixty-nine and fifty points respectively. The third high scorer was Linda Mathias with thirty-three points. Since next year there will be many girls back with varsity experience, the girls should have a winning season.

They battled well

The Bluebirds finished the 1961 season with a four and eight record. The team played very exciting baseball and was followed closely by the student body. This year's team will miss the pitching of graduated seniors Bill Fenstermacher and Bob Walters and also the hitting of Bill Bogan and Al Rowland.

Head coach Ted Budnovitch will look to returning lettermen Gerry Long, Barry Offner, Paul Whary, and Terry Graham to form the nucleus of this year's club. These boys, along with many other talented prospects, should give Schwenksville a winning team.

We ventured forth . . .

As sophomores, we, the members of the class of 1962, realized that we were all doomed to living most of our young lives in Schwenksville High School. Having learned when we were young that there is safety in numbers, we decided to unite into one strong body. Of course, since we were civilized people who did not advocate mob violence, we therefore organized. We elected a leader who, you might say, grew on us, because he continued to be "top man on the totem pole" for all of our remaining years at S.H.S. Bill Clossin became our President; Sally Warmkessel, Vice-President; Cathy Golden, Secretary; JoAnne Gebler, Treasurer. Our able advisors guided our many activities willingly, helpfully, and usually not so quietly. The advice of Mr. Romasco, Mr. Resetar, and Mr. Eurich was certainly much needed, and, later on, appreciated. Our first dance, the Christmas dance, was entitled "Sophomore Sleigh-ride." We enjoyed ourselves, mainly because it made us feel that we really belonged to S.H.S. Naturally, we had problems in our first year—what class doesn't—but we profited from our mistakes.

Our rings finally arrived. It seemed like years since we had ordered them. We wore them, and still wear them, with pride and esteem. Basketball season brought us another activity. We sponsored a bus to the Bridgeport game. A monetary profit was only second to the fact that we wanted to show we also had school spirit. We all enjoyed our roller skating party at Ringing Rocks, even if we were stiff for months afterwards. A class party at Freddie Fairlie's home brought to an end a year full of rewarding experiences.

We lived it up on Junior Day.

We welcomed spring—V. Moran, S. Kriebel, D. Fisher, J. Swarr.

The senior class turned over the Key—C. Cole, W. Clossin.

... looked expectantly to the future ...

Suddenly, we were juniors. As a result of our first class meeting as juniors, we elected Bill Clossin, President; Sam Kehrer, Vice-President; Nancy Stahley, Secretary; JoAnne Gebler, Treasurer. Our activities kept us extremely busy, but we still found a little time for our studies. "Venus by Night" was our first junior dance. The decorations were centered around a replica of Venus surrounded by a deep blue sky. At the far end, a satellite was suspended from one of the basketball rims. Naturally, there were stars aplenty.

Amid a flurry of activities, we were confronted with our first selling project, the sale of Easter candy. A few of us were eating chocolate eggs far into summer. For the most part, we worked hard on our project, keeping our trip to Washington in the back of our cluttered minds. Spring was surely upon us, and our advisors, Mr. Keenan and Mr. Byers, did a splendid job trying to keep us on the right track. Our selling project and other activities might have folded if it had not been for their help. "Eternal Fascination" was our bid to the goddess of spring. This dance was decorated with flowers, gay colors, and an effective picket fence and trellis. The Junior-Senior Prom, which followed, told us the year was nearing its end. The year came to a close with Class Night, when we bid the Class of 1961 farewell with a song, a garland of flowers, and the presentation of the Key of Education from Carole Cole to Bill Clossin.

We bid the senior class farewell.

. . . entertained for the seniors . . .

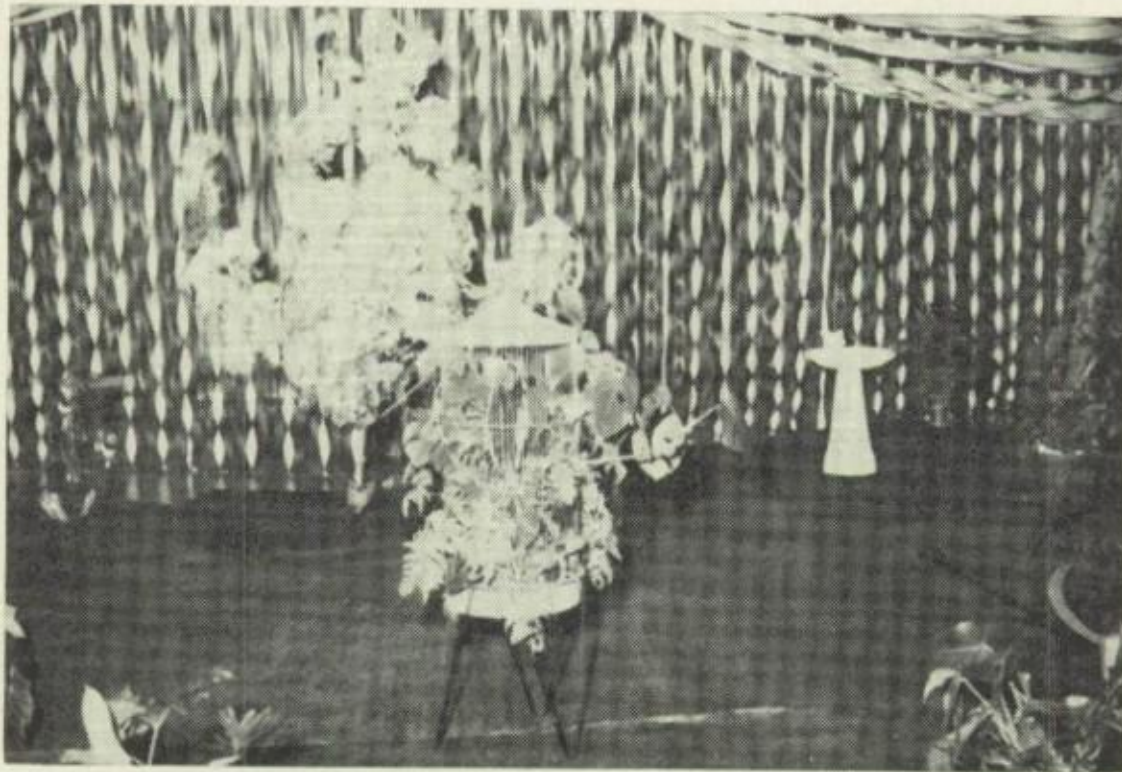

Even though our junior year was filled with many moments to remember, our Junior-Senior Prom was by far the most memorable. The event we had all been waiting for arrived May 13, 1961. We had prepared for weeks to make the prom for the Class of 1961 the best one S.H.S. had ever seen. We think we succeeded. We called it "Isle of Dreams." Surely, it was. The walls were covered with blue, the archways and ceiling with blue and white. As our guests walked under the archways, they gazed upon a garden of fantasies. A wishing well, the main attraction, was provided to fulfill the fondest dreams. The highlight of the evening came when Bill Clossin crowned Dawn Royer Queen of the Prom. She reigned over the prom until midnight when the ball came to an end.

All of our dreams were answered by our wishing well.

Our Fantasy garden brought loveliness into our evening.

The Lions Club provided post-prom entertainment.

Seniors, at last we were seniors. We were faced with many new responsibilities throughout the year. One of the most challenging of these was the presentation of our senior play, "I Remember Mama," held April 13, 14, 1962. From the announcement of the tryouts until the last minute of the performance, all of us were keyed up with excitement and tension. After Miss Sweeney chose the characters—and what a bunch of characters we were—we went right to work studying our lines and trying to develop poise and grace. That in itself was a lifetime job crammed into six weeks.

The play is a homey situation seen through the eyes of Katrin, the eldest daughter, who projects her thoughts to the audience. Many scenes, which concerned the silly, whining aunts, were very amusing. The aunts seemed to be busy bodies who had nowhere to go and nothing to do but bother Mama and her little brood. Uncle Chris was quite a combination. In one scene he made the audience hysterical with his big, blustering, booming voice, and in another he made us misty-eyed as he said his last farewell before his death. We had a wonderful time acting, trying to misguide Miss Sweeney (which failed), finding old clothes, and gulping nerve pills to stop our knees from knocking too loudly. Altogether our endeavors were a success, for the audience showed us by their reaction that we had entertained them.

As seniors, we felt like kings and queens. Enthusiastically, we sat down at our first class meeting to elect our officers and outline our senior year. Our officers were Bill Clossin, President; Pete Ressler, Vice-President; Joyce Jones, Secretary; Judy Kehs, Treasurer. This was the busiest year we had ever been a part of. Our selling projects were the sale of Christmas candy, Christmas cards, the production and sale of our yearbook, and a bake sale. These took a great deal of our time, but our efforts were not in vain.

In addition to the money raising activities, our class was represented in many social activities as well. Freddie Fairlie and Bill Clossin represented our class as King and Queen of Hearts at the annual Valentine Dance.

We also sponsored a St. Patrick's Day dance entitled "Leprechaun Leap." Needless to say, the decorations were green. We also had a real live leprechaun, Dwain Jones, as our able D.J. Mr. Carfagno and Mr. Graber were indispensable during all of our projects. We must admit that at first our advisors did not conform to all of our wishes, but with patient perseverance we finally buckled down. The success of the senior play proved our maturity as seniors.

Then came the anxiously awaited events that meant the year was coming to a close. We thought the time would never come, but when it did, we realized the year had been altogether too short. Our assembly was one I'm sure the school will remember for a long time. At last came the trip we had many doubts of ever making, our trip to Washington. We brought home nothing but the best of memories, although I'm not quite sure the chaperons felt as we did. The last few weeks passed all too quickly. Before we knew it, exams were behind us and we proudly participated in the activities of graduation week.

Thus we journey to the end of our voyage. We have explored the paths and roadways of high school, and now emerge full of new experiences and knowledge we are eager to try. We are anxious to go on and move out onto the highway of adult life with confidence in the future.

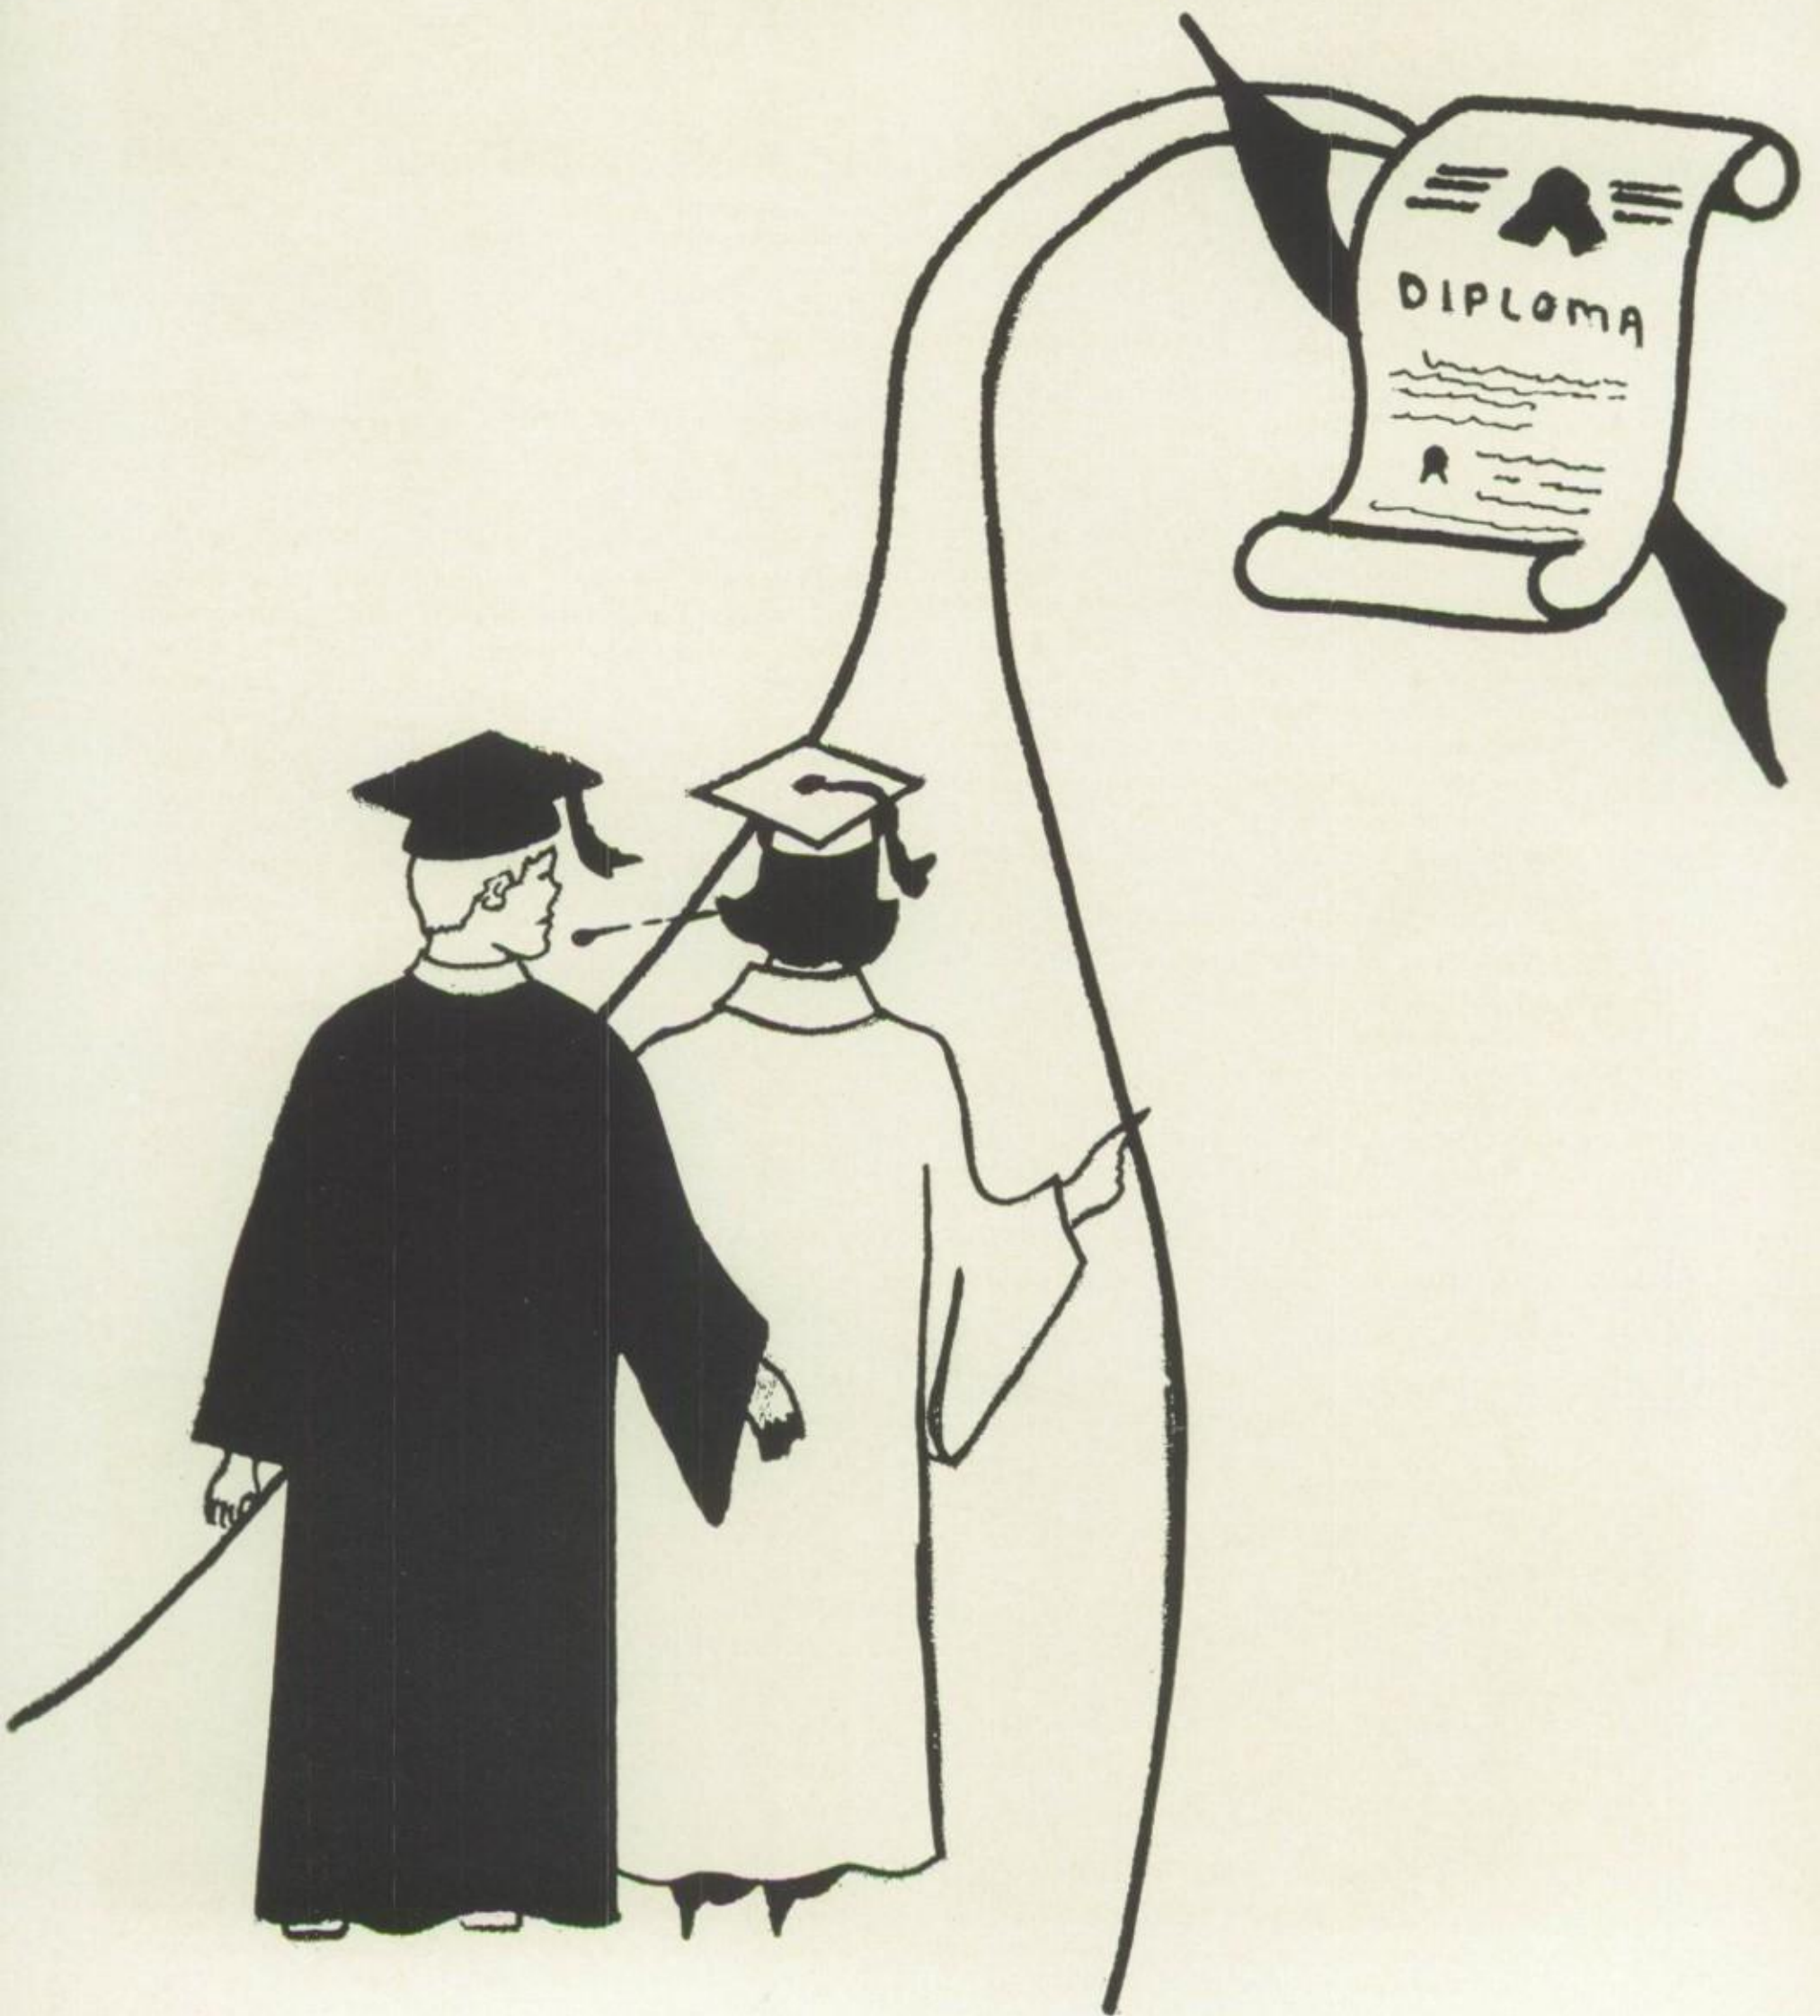

We sold candy till it was coming out of our ears. B. O'Neil, Mr. Carfagno, A. Butterworth.

The leprechauns dropped in for our dance. N. Heacock, S. Warmkessel, P. Nace.
